

Walk The Dog

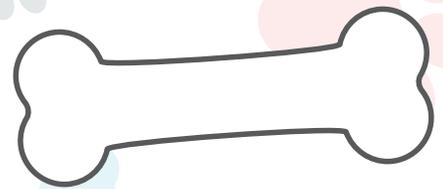

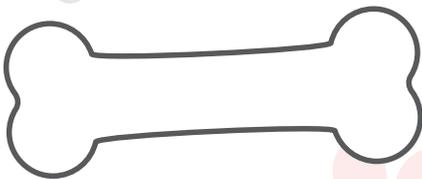

Girl Scout Brownie
(grades 2 - 3)

Dogs love to go out for walks! And eat treats.
Take your own dog for a walk with your group!

1 Here's your dog. Give her a name and, if you want, color her. Then tape or glue the picture of your dog onto an envelope.

2 Look over the catalog of magazines you are selling. Every girl writes the name of a different magazine on three dog treats, like this.

3 Put all the treats in a box. Turn on some music and walk around the box with your dog envelope. When the music stops, each girl reaches into the box and takes out one dog treat. Do this three times.

4 Each girl takes the treats out of her envelope and on the blank side writes the name of someone she thinks would like to read that magazine.

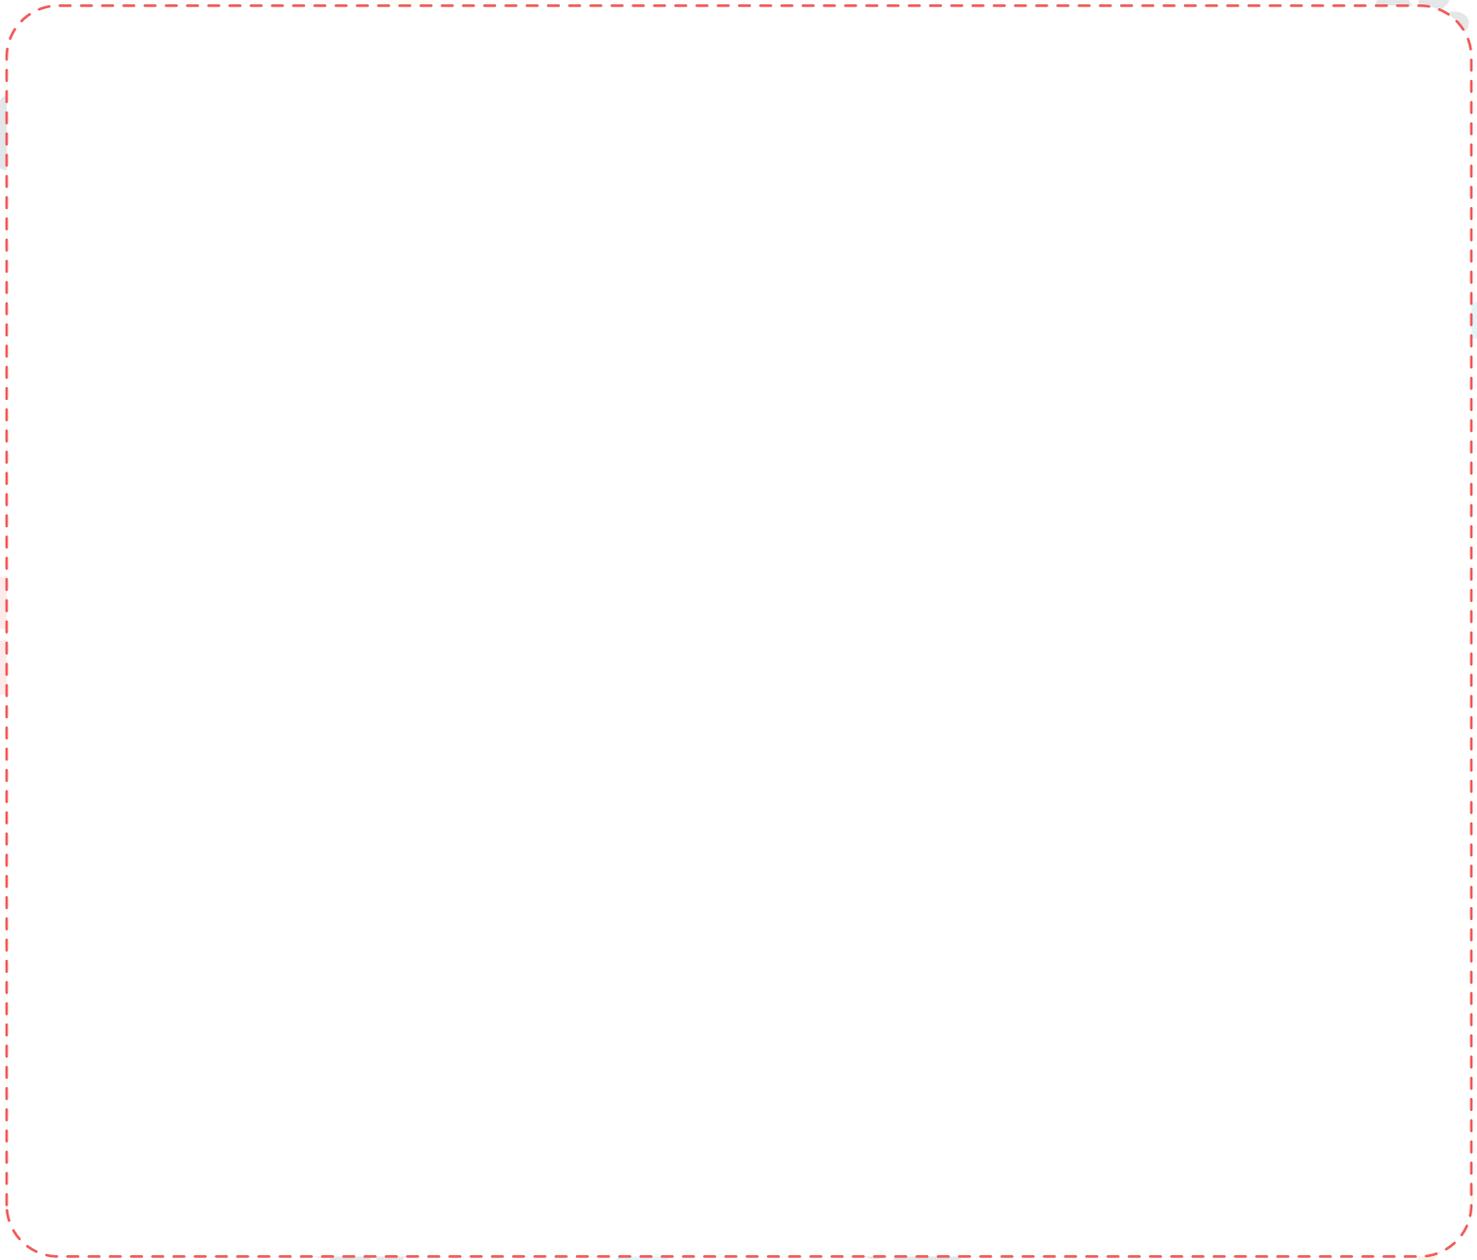

5 These aren't just dog treats—it's your customer list! Put the treats back in the envelope and take them home so you won't forget who you want to call, email, text, or visit. Thinking about other people you want to sell magazines to? List them here or fill out some more dog treats!

Spreadin' a Little Cozy

Where do people read magazines in your community? Train stations, libraries, coffee shops, community centers, nursing homes, hairdressers, day care centers, doctor or dentist's office waiting rooms, veterinary offices? Which do you think are the best places to read? Why?

Design an inviting place to read a magazine in your community. What does it need? Comfortable seats and good lighting? Heat for cold weather? Your cozy corner might even show a dog! Draw your cozy reading spot.

Find a way to celebrate your community when you design your spot. What kind of drawings or pictures could you put on the walls that would honor the many types of people in your community?

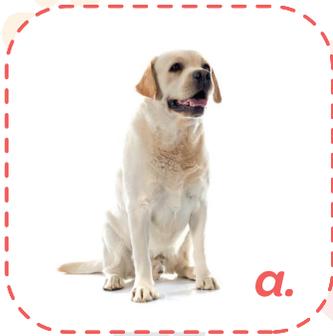

Brownies learn how their communities honor and observe the special traits of the people who live there when they earn the Celebrating Community badge.
